

Check a StudyPass ID in 5 seconds

A StudyPass ID is a digital student card issued by the student's own college.

The live code is live

1

The colour strip moves and the clock shows the time now, so a screenshot is frozen. A Wallet pass or proof of enrolment isn't live: its check page says so. Check the photo.

2

The photo matches

Compare it with the person in front of you.

3

"Valid until" is in the future

A past date means the card has expired.

4

Full-time price? Look for the badge

Only shown when the college records full-time study. No badge, no full-time price.

In doubt? Scan the QR code

Use your phone camera. Look for a green "Verified student" page on a studypass.app address.

After you scan

Green: Verified student

Check the photo matches.

Amber: code has expired

Ask for the live code and scan again.

Red: not a valid ID

Don't accept it.

Red flags

- ! The strip doesn't move or the clock is frozen on what should be the live code.
- ! The page says "Wallet pass" or "Proof of enrolment" and the photo isn't a clear match.
- ! The photo doesn't match.
- ! "Valid until" has passed.
- ! The student won't let you scan the code.
- ! The scan page isn't on a studypass.app address.

If something's wrong

Don't give the student price. Stay polite: the student can sort it out with their college. Never keep a student's phone. Report a suspected fake at studypass.app/contact.
